Senator Brown Sworn into Office to Represent 11th District

Columbus – State Senator Edna Brown (D-Toledo) was sworn into office Monday as the first African-American to represent Lucas County and the 11th District in the Ohio Senate. Her Democratic colleagues also elected Senator Brown to serve as Minority Whip in the 129th General Assembly.

“I am honored that the voters of the eleventh Senate district recognized my past experience and dedication to Lucas County,” said Senator Brown. “It is humbling to have also been chosen to serve in the leadership position of Minority Whip by the Senate Democrat Caucus. I will continue to diligently serve my constituents as a State Senator and listen to their concerns.”

Senator Brown previously served as a member of the Ohio House of Representatives from 2002 to 2010 representing Ohio’s 48th House District. She also served six years on Toledo City Council.
